- Speaking interview and rubric
- Listening script

- Scoring guide (proposed score bands)
- Teacher notes

How to Use This Packet

- The test for learners is a separate file: `Level5_Final_Student_Test.pdf` (no answers, no cover page). Print 1 per learner + 3 extra.
- This packet is for you: directions, the listening script, the answer key, the scoring guide, and the speaking papers.
- Audio: the recording `L5_Final_listening.mp3` is not ready yet (the script is about 2:38 long). Until it is ready, read the listening script aloud two times, at a natural speed. Two readers are better: one reads the women's lines and one reads the men's lines.
- All instructions are in English. Read each instruction aloud once and show an example on the board if learners look unsure.

Week 15: Final: Step by Step

What the test has

Part	What learners do	Points	Time
A. Listening	Listen to three parts (a website conversation; a claim call; a short meeting). Circle an answer, mark true or false, or write one word (10 items).	10	18 min (6:10–6:28)
B. Words	Complete sentences with words from a box (8 items).	8	17 min (6:28–6:45) for B + C
C. Grammar	Part 1: circle the correct words (12 items). Part 2: find and fix one mistake in each sentence (4 items).	16	(with B)
D. Reading	Read a text of about 260 words. Answer 8 questions.	8	13 min (6:55–7:08)
E. Writing	Choose one of two tasks. Write 8–12 sentences (a letter of one or two paragraphs).	8	19 min (7:08–7:27)
Written total		50	67 min
Speaking interview	Pairs with the teacher, during the written parts. Scored with the rubric, not added to the written total.	3–9	4 min per pair Covers Lessons 1–13. Most items are from Lessons 8–13 (school and office questions, checking a source, compromise, a claim, a meeting, a short talk); some items review Lessons 1–7. The speaking interview uses the same first questions as the midterm, so you can hear the growth.

Before class (20 minutes)

1. Print the student test (1 per learner + 3). From this packet, print the Speaking Task Cards (1 set per pair), the Score Sheet, and the Self-Check (1 per learner).
2. The recording is not ready yet: ask a second reader to help, and read the listening script through once before class.
3. Set 2 chairs and 1 chair for you in a quiet corner (for the speaking interviews).
4. Have pencils, a clock or timer, and the class list.

Step 1 · 6:00–6:10 · Welcome and one review station · 10 min

- Say: "Tonight is the test. First listening, then words and grammar, then a short break, then reading and writing. I will call you in pairs for a short speaking interview."
- One review station for the whole class (the midterm: a one-minute interview in pairs; the final: a must / might / can't source check). Call the first pair for the interview.

Step 2 · 6:10–6:28 · A. Listening · 18 min

- Hand out the test. Learners write their name. Read the Part A instruction and the scene line aloud.
- Give 2 minutes to read the questions. Play the audio (or read the script) once. Wait 1 minute. Play it again. Give 2 more minutes.
- No interviews during the listening.

Step 3 · 6:28–6:45 · B. Words and C. Grammar · 17 min

- Read the Part B and Part C instructions aloud. Show Part C2 on the board: She said me the time. → She told me the time.
- Learners work alone and quietly. Call pairs for the speaking interview (4 minutes per pair).

Step 4 · 6:45–6:55 · Break · 10 min

- Collect nothing yet: learners turn the test over. Continue interviews if needed.

Step 5 · 6:55–7:08 · D. Reading · 13 min

- Read the instruction. Learners read the text and answer. Continue interviews.

Step 6 · 7:08–7:27 · E. Writing · 19 min

- Read both tasks aloud. Learners check the box for the task they chose and write the number of sentences on the test.
- Say: "Put your ideas in order. Read the questions under your task." At 7:25, say: "Two more minutes. Read your writing one time."

Step 7 · 7:27–7:30 · Self-check and goodbye · 3 min

- Collect the tests. Hand out the Can-Do Self-Check. Learners check the boxes and write one goal. Collect it.
- Finish any last interviews after class or at the start of the next class.

Clock-time plan

Time	Whole class	Teacher
6:00–6:10	One review station	Interview pair 1
6:10–6:28	A. Listening	Play the audio two times
6:28–6:45	B. Words, C. Grammar	Interviews
6:45–6:55	Break	Interviews if needed
6:55–7:08	D. Reading	Interviews
7:08–7:27	E. Writing	Interviews
7:27–7:30	Self-check	Collect everything

Speaking interview (4 minutes per pair)

- Part 1 (about 2 minutes). Ask each learner 2 of the questions on the Speaking Interview Card. After each answer, ask one follow-up question (Why? When? Who with? What happened next?).
- Part 2 (about 2 minutes). Give the pair one Task Card. They read it for 20 seconds and then talk to each other. You listen and only help if they stop.
- Score each learner on the 3 rubric areas (1–3 each, 3–9 in total). Write the score at once, before the next pair.

Speaking rubric (1–3 in each area)

Area	1	2	3
Communication	Short answers only; needs a lot of help.	Answers in 1–3 sentences, or gives no reason, or does not respond to the partner.	Answers in about four connected sentences with a reason and responds to the partner (a follow-up question, a check, or polite agreement or disagreement).
Target grammar	Few lesson forms; many mistakes stop the meaning.	Uses some lesson forms (been + -ing, had + past participle, I wish I had, said / told / asked, must / might / can't, which / where / who); mistakes do not stop the meaning.	Uses lesson forms correctly most of the time.
Pronunciation and fluency	Hard to understand; long stops.	Understandable with some effort; some stops.	Easy to understand; few stops.

From Level 5 Scope §7 (the Level 4 rubric; a 3 in Communication means about four connected sentences, a reason, and a response to the partner). Score 3–9 in total.

Listening Script

Listening script: `L5_Final_listening.mp3` (about 2:38, estimated from the script; not recorded yet; play it two times)

Speakers: Aisha, Ms. Lane, Noah, Tom, and a narrator.

> Narrator: Final exam listening. Part one. Aisha and her friend Noah are looking at a website. Listen.
>
> Noah: Aisha, look at this website. It says the city is giving free laptops to adult students.
>
> Aisha: Really? Do you know if it's from the city?
>
> Noah: I'm not sure. There's no author, and I can't find a date stamp.
>
> Aisha: And look at the logo. It's different from the city logo. It can't be the city page.
>
> Noah: You're right. It asks for your bank card number, too. It must be an ad, or maybe a scam.
>
> Aisha: Let's check the source. I'll call the library and ask whether the program is real.
>
> Narrator: Part two. The next day, Aisha calls customer service about a table that she ordered.
>
> Ms. Lane: Thank you for waiting. My name is Ellen Lane. How can I help you?
>
> Aisha: Hi. I'd like to file a claim. My new kitchen table arrived on Monday, and one leg was broken.
>
> Ms. Lane: I'm sorry to hear that. Do you have your receipt?
>
> Aisha: Yes, I do. I was wondering if you could send a new leg instead of a new table.

Ms. Lane: We can do that. Were photos attached to your email?

Aisha: Yes, two photos were attached. I sent them yesterday.

Ms. Lane: Good. I'll send you a reference number by email. The new leg should arrive in five days.

Aisha: Thank you. Waiting on hold was a little long, but you've been very helpful.

Narrator: Part three. That evening, Aisha and Noah go to a meeting in their building. Tom is the chairperson.

Tom: Good evening, everyone. Let's start. The first item on the agenda is the laundry room, which is closed on weekends.

Aisha: I have a proposal. The laundry room is so busy on weekdays that many people can't use it. Could we open it on Saturdays?

Noah: I agree. Keeping it closed all weekend isn't fair to people who work during the week.

Tom: Good point. But the building manager is worried about noise on Sundays.

Aisha: Then let's meet in the middle. We could open it on Saturdays and keep it closed on Sundays.

Tom: That's a fair compromise. Let's vote at the next meeting. Noah, can you take the minutes?

Noah: Sure. I'll send them by Friday.

Narrator: That's the end of the listening.

> Task 1 (A claim letter): Dear Customer Service, I'm writing to file a claim for a desk lamp which I ordered on your website. The lamp arrived on May 3, but the glass was broken. I was very surprised, because the box looked fine. I have attached two photos of the lamp and a copy of my receipt. Waiting a few days for a new lamp is not a problem for me. I was wondering if you could send a new one by the end of the month. If that is not possible, I would like a refund. You can call me at home or send me an email. Thank you for your help. Sincerely, Rosa Martinez

> Task 2 (A thank-you letter to a mentor): Dear Ms. Hale, I'm writing to say thank you. I have known you for two years, since I started the English class where you volunteer on Tuesdays. You helped me in many ways. First, you helped me write my résumé, which I used for my new job. Second, you practiced interviews with me, so I wasn't nervous on the real day. I wish I had told you sooner how much this helped. Next month, I'm going to start a training program at the hospital. I'm so happy that I can't stop smiling! Thank you for everything. Your student, Samir

Scoring Guide

Written test: score bands (proposed)

Written score	Band	What it means
39–50	Meets	The learner can use most of the Level 5 language on their own.
26–38	Almost	The learner understands a lot but still needs practice. Look at which part was low.
0–25	Not yet	Talk with the learner. Plan extra practice.

These bands are proposed (about 78% and 52%, the same as the Level 1 and Level 2 exams). The program confirms them after the first classes use the test.

Writing rubric (Part E, 8 points)

Area	0	1	2
Task	Off topic, or much shorter than the task asks.	On topic, but shorter than the task asks, or a part of the task is missing.	Does the whole task in the number of sentences asked, with reasons or details.
Order	A reader cannot follow the order of the ideas.	Some order, but a reader has to guess what happened first or what the main point is.	Clear order: first, then, by the time…; or a greeting, the reason for writing, details, and a closing.
Grammar	Many mistakes; the meaning is hard to follow.	Some mistakes in the lesson forms.	Uses the lesson forms for the task with few mistakes.
Clear for a reader	A reader cannot follow it.	A reader understands most of it after reading it two times.	A reader understands it on the first reading.

Spelling mistakes do not lose points if the word is clear. Score what the learner wrote, not what is missing from the model answer.

Speaking (3–9, separate from the written score)

- 7–9: strong for this level. 5–6: on track. 3–4: needs more speaking practice. (Proposed.)

Completion note (proposed, for the teacher's folder)

- came to at least 9 of the 13 lessons;

- took the final exam (written and speaking);
- scored 2 or more in each of the 3 speaking rubric areas;
- wrote a letter or paragraph of at least 8 sentences (Part E) that a reader understands on the first reading (Clear for a reader = 2).

Proposed, from Level 5 Scope §7. The note is for the teacher's folder. It is not a rule that keeps anyone out of graduation: every learner gives the Lesson 13 talk and receives a certificate. There is no Level 6; the teacher can invite a learner to repeat Level 5.

Teacher Notes

- Part A3: advertisement is also correct.
- Part D2: Leo Garcia is also correct.
- Final: use the completion note in the Scoring Guide for the teacher's folder. It does not decide who comes to graduation. Write C or N on the Score Sheet.
- Part 1 of the speaking interview uses the same questions as the midterm. If you have your notes from Week 8, compare the answers.
- Part C2: accept any correct sentence that fixes the one mistake; some other good answers are in the key.
- All test items use only words and grammar taught in the Level 5 lessons. If a learner missed a lesson, look at the lesson number in the answer key before you decide what to review.
- Learners may ask what a word in an instruction means. You may explain the instruction, but not the words that are tested.
- Learners who need more time can finish Part E at the start of the next class.
- Step 1 has one review station. The other review stations in Scope §7 do not fit on the same night as Parts B and D; use them at the end of the class before the exam if you have time.

Papers to Copy

Speaking Interview Card (Teacher)

Part 1. Ask each learner 2 questions (the same questions as the first weeks, so you can hear the growth). Then ask one follow-up question.

1. How long have you been living in this city?
2. Tell me about a job, a class, or a project. What had you already done before you started?
3. What is something you wish you had known when you started this class?
4. What is a rule at your work, school, or building? Use unless or as long as.
5. Tell me about a message someone gave you. What did the person say or ask?
6. You like this class, don't you? Why?

Follow-up questions: Why? When was that? Who were you with? What happened next? How did you feel?

Part 2. Give the pair one Task Card. Listen for:

- Card A (Judge a web page): It must be..., It might be..., It can't be..., because...; the source, the author, the date stamp; each learner responds to the partner.
- Card B (Agree on a compromise): Can we meet in the middle?, so... that, I was wondering if..., a reason; about four sentences each, and each learner responds to the partner.

Speaking Task Cards

Cut out the cards. Give one card to each pair.

Card A: Judge a web page

Read the page on the card: "FREE phones for all students! Send your bank card number today!" It has no author, no date stamp, and a strange logo.

Learners A and B decide together: Is it a fact, an ad, or a rumor? Each learner gives a reason with must be, might be, or can't be and responds to the partner.

Card B: Agree on a compromise

Two coworkers both want next Friday off. The store needs one of them on Friday.

Each learner says what he or she wants and why. Then find a solution in the middle (a swap, a shorter shift, or another day).
